Question: the metal contact on the sole has fallen off and been lost, how do i find a replacement?

Answer: I wouldn't but this product. I purchase. Didn't work. Contacted company several times. Company in China and refuses to respond or care. Thumbs down.

Question: What shoes sizes are considered extra large?

Answer: Thank you for your asking. If you wear the shoes among 11/11.5/12 sizes, extra large size will fit you. Also, 12.5 size will fit to extra large size of insole.

Thank you.

Great feedback device for golf. Some room for improvement of the app

In short: enthusiastic user here who wishes there would be a complete user manual to prevent stumbling around the app at the beginning.

Some time ago I took a golf lesson on a pressure-mat and loved the data feedback on weight distribution. Since my golf club does not own a pressure-mat and I can't afford it (around USD 4K) I went looking for an alternative and came across these insoles. And downloaded the accompanying golf app.

What is good:

1. quality of the insoles, they appear well made and sturdy
2. quality of the pressure data coming from the insoles. There are 4 sensors per insole (I think) which provide good pressure feedback data for my (golf) needs.
3. The review and editing functions of the app video swing analysis. Well thought out and

Great idea...poor implementation

Reviewed in the United States on July 25, 2020

Size: 12-13 Women/11-12 Men Verified Purchase

I really wanted this golf product to be different than other golf products. There are so many golf training aids that are great in theory but terrible in practice/implementation. Sadly this product falls into that category. The Bluetooth connection is so bad I couldn't even record a single swing at the range. I took these insoles to the range multiple times. Every time I would get the connection working it would disconnect again when I was in my setup. I had my phone on the ground about 3-4 ft away so I could see my weight distribution during my swing but every time I set the phone back down on the ground and took my setup it would disconnect.

The thickness of the insole makes them a little uncomfortable to wear. I ended up taking out the original insole in my golf shoe. This made the fit reasonable.

The ability to delimit one swing from another is done via a timer. I would rather have control over this via a manual button or voice activation or remote and later edit the recording to eliminate extraneous movements. Ideally I would want to leave my phone in the golf cart during a round and start and stop the recording after every swing.

I would love to see version 2 of this product make some big improvements in connectability

Recommended for golfing and exercising alike!

Reviewed in the United States on June 11, 2020

Size: 9-10 Women/8-9 Men Verified Purchase

As a former golfer getting my wife into golf during this pandemic, I found this smart insole comforting and intuitive. My wife also found this helpful.

The app is easy-to-use. Just using the QR code reader gets you to the app download, and it's a breeze from there. The Salted Golf app is easy on the eyes in terms of interface. The overlay feature is fantastic for me as a regular golfer. Being able to compare my posture and swing with a pro golfer really helps me out.

We also found use for the insole to correct our squat posture as it reads the pressure points of the insoles. I feel that it will be useful for various exercise and activities.

The overall feel of the insoles is really comfortable, as you could never guess that such a technology is even inside the insole when you wear them.

I was worried that the insole would not fit my size, but there was a little headroom at the great when it works

Reviewed in the United States on September 4, 2020

I bought this as hopes to improve my lower body weight distribution transitioning in a golf swing. I had high hopes, the support was very responsive, the product fit my shoes [after much maneuvering] and it seemed to record well. However looking back through my swings on the first day only about 40% of them worked with the pressure showing on both insoles. I contact support they suggested I recalibrate. Great no problem.

Day 2 I recalibrated, seemed to work better but still suffered some connectivity problems where 1 would disconnect. This day about 70% registered properly.

Day 3 however, I went back down to about 50% registering properly where 1 would disconnect. It tells you if both disconnect however, the whole purpose of the insole is to register weight distribution through 2 feet not 1, rendering this product useless a large portion of time. Each day I hit 50+ balls.

I'll give it another shot hoping connectivity will be improved but I'm not optimistic. I'm surprised the price bump from $140 to $200 for a product that doesn't seem to work quite yet. Another thing is that there's no sound recording of the impact on the ball which is a
